MESSAGE FROM THE GRADUATE TESOL DIRECTOR

There are many facets to second language learning and teaching. I find, and I hope you will too, that it is this complexity that makes TESOL such a fascinating field of study. It is also a field that is constantly changing and evolving as new research and technologies emerge. Consequently, there is always something new to learn and experience. I very much look forward to working together and to further developing your skills and knowledge in this exciting field!

Graduate TESOL Director, Graduate School of Education Anaheim University
DOCTOR OF EDUCATION IN TESOL OVERVIEW

WORK FULL TIME & STUDY ONLINE

The AU Ed.D. in TESOL degree program allows you to study online while working full time and fulfilling your personal responsibilities. All the courses are taught online and students participate in two required 4-day residential sessions, which are typically held to coincide with a weekend.

WHO IS THE ED.D. IN TESOL DEGREE FOR?

The Ed.D. in TESOL is designed for students who have completed an MA TESOL or MA Applied Linguistics or relevant area of education and who are interested in developing the technical and professional knowledge and research skills that are needed to assume leadership positions in the field of TESOL. Students completing the Ed.D will be equipped to work as directors of programs where English is taught as a second or foreign language, contribute to English language teacher education programs, engage in research into language teaching and testing, and develop language courses and teaching materials amongst others.

OUTSTANDING FACULTY

One of the primary deciding factors for students who choose the Anaheim University Graduate School of Education’s Doctor of Education in TESOL is the quality of the highly esteemed faculty who teach AU students in weekly real-time online classes via high definition webcam. In particular, the designer of the Ed.D. in TESOL is world-renowned linguist Dr. Rod Ellis, who was awarded the Duke of Edinburgh prize for the best book in applied linguistics for his Oxford University Press classic “The Study of Second Language Acquisition”. Dr. Ellis is joined by some of the world’s most renowned linguists and acclaimed TESOL authors for such publishers as Oxford University Press, Cambridge University Press, Thomson Publishing, Prentice-Hall, Longman, Palgrave Macmillan and McGraw-Hill. These include President Emeritus and designer of Anaheim University’s MA in TESOL program Dr. David Nunan, and AU professors Denise Murray, MaryAnn Christison and Andy Curtis who are former Presidents of TESOL, the world’s largest language teaching organization. 100% of the AU Ed.D. in TESOL faculty are regular plenary speakers at various international TESOL conferences and are considered to be experts in their field by the TESOL community.

The cost of travel will vary, depending on your distance from the residential session and your mode of transportation. Anaheim University does not provide visa services. For Ed.D. in TESOL students attending the four-day residential sessions, it is the students’ responsibility to ensure that they have taken care of proper visa procedures, if required. Any students traveling to the residential should have travel insurance, and any local students should have medical emergency insurance.

+ Assumes completion in 19 terms.

US Military: Anaheim University’s programs are approved for VA benefits.

* The Student Tuition Recovery Fund (STRF) is administered by the California BPPE and applies only to California residents. The STRF fee is currently fifty cents ($0.50) per one thousand dollars ($1,000) of institutional charges. The State of California established the Student Tuition Recovery Fund (STRF) to relieve or mitigate economic loss suffered by a student in an educational program at a qualifying institution, who is or was a California resident while enrolled, or was enrolled in a residency program, if the student enrolled in the institution, prepaid tuition, and suffered an economic loss. Unless relieved of the obligation to do so, you must pay the state-imposed assessment for the STRF, or it must be paid on your behalf, if you are a student in an educational program, who is a California resident, or are enrolled in a residency program, and prepay all or part of your tuition. You are not eligible for protection from the STRF and you are not required to pay the STRF assessment, if you are not a California resident, or are not enrolled in a residency program.
The residential fee does not include housing, meals or transportation; costs vary depending on the originating location of the student and the chosen accommodations. Anaheim University endeavors to find housing at a reasonable cost for students. Any students traveling to the residential should have travel insurance, and any local students should have medical emergency insurance.

Course textbooks are not included in the program fees and are expected to average U.S. $200/course. Dissertation publishing and textbook fees are extra. Doctoral students are also required to have a reserve fund of $2000 for research materials. Refer to page 18 for details.

Affordable Pay-As-You-Learn System: Pay for only one course at a time, or receive a 10% discount on tuition by paying 100% of your program fees at the time you enroll.

Students may make payment by check, credit card (Visa, MasterCard, American Express or Discover), money order or bank transfer.

An extension may be granted by the Director of the Ed.D. program to students requiring more time to complete the program.

METHOD OF INSTRUCTION

Online Learning: Reading of textbooks and submission of assignments; weekly 90-minute real time online classes and discussion forums with professor & students

Residential Session: Two four-day seminars are held in California or in other selected locations in the world, most commonly in Asia. (Anaheim University does not provide visa services. It is the students’ responsibility to ensure that they have taken care of proper visa procedures, if required).

The tuition for the Residential Session is included in the total program price, but students must pay for their own travel, room, and board. The Residential Session typically alternates between California and Asia.

Course Duration: Each course is nine weeks long. Courses begin every ten weeks.

Degree Program Duration: The Ed.D. in TESOL degree program will take under four years to complete. Maximum time allotted to complete program - 5 years from date of matriculation. Students may be granted an extension to their program at the discretion of the Director of the Ed.D. program.

Under no circumstances may the Ed.D. in TESOL program be completed in less than two years from the date of initial enrollment or more than ten years from the date of initial enrollment.

RESIDENTIAL SESSION

The Residentials are an integral part of Anaheim University’s Ed.D. in TESOL program, and they are widely considered by students to be their favorite component of the program. The Residentials have two primary aims:

- To complement the existing curriculum by focusing on specific topics that are introduced in the online courses but not addressed in detail
- To enhance the sense of community among the students and faculty members in the programs through face-to-face communication.

At the Residentials, formal lectures are kept to a minimum. Instead, students work collaboratively, engage in debates, make presentations, and focus on practical assignments and tasks in ways that are limited in an online environment. The Residentials also provide the instructors with an opportunity to model pedagogical practices. By taking part in simulations, debates and other activities, students get to see firsthand how these activities can be incorporated into their own instruction. They complete a series of experiential application tasks that complement the theoretical and empirical input provided through the online courses.
Students must attend two four-day Residential sessions during their program. Students who register for a Residential will receive information prior to the start of the program that contains details about accommodations, schedule, pre-residential tasks and pre-residential reading. Typically, there are two groups -- one for the MA students and one for the Ed.D. students -- along with three plenary sessions that bring the two groups of students together.

- Two four-day intensive Ed.D. TESOL residential sessions
- Study in Southern California or other select locations
- Study with AU world-renowned faculty while networking with local students at residential sessions

Program Requirements and Satisfactory Academic Progress

The Ed.D. in TESOL program consists of 15 courses, 1 Dissertation Proposal Writing Course, and 3 Dissertation Writing terms, for a total of 19 terms and 76 units (19 courses, 4 units each). Each course is 9 weeks long, with a week between courses. Students must maintain a 3.0 grade point average (GPA) throughout the Ed.D. in order to graduate from the program. Any students whose GPA falls below a 3.0 will be put on Academic Probation and given two terms to bring his/her GPA back to a 3.0 level. Students who earn a grade lower than an 80% (a “C,” “D,” or “F”) on any given course must repeat the course.

The Ed.D. schedule is set each year and typically announced in the Fall. Failure to take an available course when one is offered may prevent a student from completing his/her program in the allotted time. The maximum time allotted for completion of the Ed.D. program is five years. Students who have not completed their programs within the maximum allotted time are subject to academic dismissal. Students who need additional time must receive permission from the Dean or Program Director.

At the end of each of the student’s first five courses, s/he must take a Qualifying Exam on that particular course subject. Once all five exams have been completed, the five scores are then averaged for a final Qualifying Exam grade. The Qualifying Exam is administered at the end of each course; the score does not count toward the course grade or student GPA -- only toward the Qualifying Exam grade. Students must pass the Qualifying Exam with a minimum average score of 80% in order to continue in the program.

The Comprehensive Exam is administered after the student has successfully completed his/her coursework, and before s/he continues to the Dissertation Proposal Writing Course. The student must pass the Comprehensive Exam with a minimum score of 80% in order to continue to the Dissertation phase of the program. Students who fail the Comprehensive Exam will be enrolled in a Study Term and assigned a professor to mentor them through the process of studying and synthesizing their coursework. They will pay the standard tuition and records fee for this support and to re-sit the exam the following term.

Attendance at two residential sessions is a requirement for graduation from the Ed.D. program. The Residential Sessions are intensive, in-person seminars taught by TESOL faculty and are held over four days, typically in July or August. The tuition for the Residential Sessions is included in the total program price, but students must pay for their own travel, room and board. The Residential Sessions typically alternate each summer between California and Asia.

Program Study Suggestions

Students are responsible for being knowledgeable of the course syllabus and course grading rubrics. Also, in order to assist you allocate your time, each course guide contains a weekly program break-down. It is a suggestion only, but one that students are advised to adhere to as closely as possible to keep up with the demanding schedule of the course. Below is an example:

Each week the student will:

1. Look briefly through the set readings, the tutorial questions, and the assignment for the week’s work. (15 minutes)
2. Complete the set reading, making notes on the tutorial questions as you do. (4 hours)
3. Discuss the tutorial questions / tasks with other students via the online discussion forum. (3 hours)
4. Take part in one of the interactive tutorials. (1.5 hours)
5. Review the transcript of the real-time online class and make notes. (1 hour)
6. Further reading/note taking on the topic using the Anaheim library resources. (8 hours)
7. Ongoing work on assessment 1 or 2. (2 hours 15 mins)

Total: 20 hours for a 9-week course

COURSE DESCRIPTIONS

EDU 700 INSTRUCTED SECOND LANGUAGE ACQUISITION

This course investigates research that has investigated the effects of form-focused instruction on L2 acquisition. It draws on theory and research in the field of second language acquisition and examines a number of options for conducting form-focused instruction. Students will be expected to use their knowledge of existing research to prepare a research proposal for a study using their own learners or a group of learners with whom they are familiar.

EDU 701 INTERLANGUAGE PRAGMATICS

This course will familiarize participants with research investigating interlanguage pragmatics and examine how instruction can effectively develop L2 pragmatic competence. Students will be required to prepare a set of teaching materials for teaching ONE speech act (e.g., requests or compliments). They will also be asked to try out and evaluate their materials on their own students or students with whom they are familiar.

EDU 702 INDIVIDUAL LEARNER DIFFERENCES IN LANGUAGE LEARNING AND TEACHING

This course reviews research that has investigated a number of key individual learner factors (e.g., language aptitude, motivation, learner beliefs) and how these impact on language teaching. The course also considers how individual differences in classroom learners can be accommodated instructionally. There will be opportunity for students to analyse qualitative data in order to investigate individual learner factors. Students will be required to carry out a qualitative study of two language learners – one successful and one unsuccessful learner.

EDU 703 SOCIOLINGUISTICS AND LANGUAGE TEACHING

The aim of this course is to introduce participants to concepts and issues in sociolinguistics which are relevant to their lives as prospective or practicing language teachers. The course combines topics from two theoretical and research fields: (1) sociolinguistics, which examines the relationship between language and society, sometimes focusing more on learning about linguistic matters and sometimes more on learning about social structures (the latter often referred to as the ‘sociology of language’); (2) language teaching, which includes the examination of what happens in the classroom with teachers and learners, and also how these practices relate to the broader socio-political context in which the teaching and learning take place.

EDU 704 DISCOURSE ANALYSIS FOR LANGUAGE TEACHERS

This course will define ‘discourse’ and introduce students to a range of models for describing and critically evaluating authentic oral and written discourse.

EDU 705 LANGUAGE TESTING

This course will develop students’ critical understanding of different types of language tests, their theoretical underpinnings, their design, and the uses to which they can be put.

EDU 706 SPECIAL TOPIC

The purpose of these Special Topic courses is to allow the student to work in a community of practice with other candidates and advisors and completes a range of activities, which help them work towards their dissertation.

EDU 710 CURRICULUM DESIGN

The aim of this course is to present theoretical and empirical aspects of curriculum development. Participants will look at tensions between different philosophical approaches to education, and at how different philosophical approaches play out in practice.

EDU 711 TECHNOLOGY AND LANGUAGE EDUCATION

This course takes the view that technology can be both tool and tutor in language education. The role of technology in language education is examined as an aspect of curriculum design, that is, the starting point is needs analysis and resulting curriculum, rather than technology. The course will describe the characteristics of various applications such as email, computer-assisted language learning (CALL) and webpages. It will help participants evaluate the role of information technology in language teaching and learning. Participants will explore the use of technology in different educational settings, and how to integrate it in course design. Students will be required to develop a unit of work for an ELT class, integrating technology and to prepare a research proposal to investigate an aspect of technology in language education.
EDU 712 ELT MATERIALS DEVELOPMENT

The course aims to help the participants to gain the knowledge and to develop the awareness & skills required by an expert practitioner of materials development for language learning & teaching. It intends in particular to help them to become principled and effective materials evaluators, adapters, writers, users & researchers. In addition, it aims to make use of materials development to deepen the participants’ understanding of second language acquisition, of language use & of principled pedagogy as well as contributing to the further development of analytical, critical & creative thinking skills.

EDU 713 SPECIAL TOPIC

The purpose of these Special Topic courses is to allow the student to work in a community of practice with other candidates and advisors and completes a range of activities, which help them work towards their dissertation.

EDU 720 ELT LEADERSHIP AND MANAGEMENT

There is an on-going dearth of books, articles and other publications on leadership in education, and an even greater scarcity of publications on language education leadership (abbreviated in this course as ‘LEL’). Consequently, courses like this often end up having to choose between out-of-date LEL publications, or using texts written by and from the corporate, for-profit world. However, education, including language teaching and learning, is a markedly different endeavour from making and selling, for example, cars or other commercial commodities. Therefore, the literature from the for-profit world is often not applicable to and not appropriate for language education. This course is designed to address those limitations and deficiencies by drawing on, to the greatest extent possible, leadership literature from education, and wherever possible, language education. This course also makes a significant distinction between management and leadership, rejecting the interchangeable use of those two terms. As the literature on leadership and on management has grown exponentially in recent years, the two areas can still be considered to overlap with each other, but the two areas are now also distinctive and identifiably different. This course will, therefore, focus as much as possible on leadership in language education.

EDU 721 LANGUAGE TEACHER EDUCATION

This course will examine the socio-cultural perspectives on the following:

1. how teachers learn to teach a second language
2. the nature of language
3. how second languages are taught and learned
4. social, cultural, and historical influences on the second language teaching profession
5. the spectrum and roles of second language teachers’ professional development

EDU 730 QUALITATIVE RESEARCH METHODS

This course will define qualitative research and differentiate it from quantitative research, describe the evolution of qualitative research, provide a framework for doing qualitative research, present the ‘ground rules’ for doing qualitative research, and demonstrate the centrality of the writing process to qualitative research.
EDU 731 QUANTITATIVE RESEARCH METHODS

This course will enable students to design and evaluate quantitative studies of language learning and teaching and will equip them with the statistical tools for analyzing data.

EDU 732 DISSERTATION PROPOSAL WRITING

This course will assist students in preparing and critiquing a research proposal.

Dissertation

All students will be required to complete a dissertation. Students will be able to enroll for dissertation credits once all course work has been successfully completed and students have taken and passed the Comprehensive Examination.

The Dissertation is the culminating component of the Ed.D. program. The dissertation demonstrates your ability to conduct appropriate research in the field of TESOL and to interpret and apply the results of this research. The dissertation should report an original piece of research and make a significant contribution to the field. The following are criteria that students should bear in mind when preparing their proposal:

- The topic should be interesting and substantial.
- The research should aim to fill a gap in the scholarly literature.
- The methodology chosen for the research should be appropriate and the student should be able to provide a rationale for the choice of methodology.
- The dissertation should be written in accordance with the standard conventions for reporting research (i.e., those of the American Psychological Association Manual, 6th Edition).
- The author should provide implications of the findings of the research for the field of TESOL

Dissertation Team

Dissertation candidates have a dissertation supervisory team that begins during the Dissertation Proposal courses and extends to the final oral defense and the awarding of the degree. This team consists of the EDU 732 professor(s), the Dissertation Advisor, the Chair of Ethics, the Chair of Research, and the External Examiner.

The EDU 732 course professor mentors each student through the process of developing a topic into a workable proposal that is primed to become a dissertation. S/he is the initial person who will review the dissertation proposal.

The most central member of the dissertation candidate’s supervisory team is the Dissertation Advisor. The student is responsible for nominating an advisor. The advisor is typically an Anaheim University faculty member, but s/he may also be an outside professor who meets the requirements for advising. Upon acceptance of the nomination and approval by the Chair of Research, the advisor guides the student through the dissertation process through regular meetings. These meetings include:

- a discussion of the research plan (firming up research questions and methodology);
- discussion of data and methods of analysis, once the data has been collected;
- discussion of results and the implications; and
- discussion of the chapters or pieces of the dissertation prior to submission.

At the end of each term, the student and advisor each submit a short progress report form indicating the student’s progress and any outstanding issues.
The Chair of Ethics reviews the Ethics Application Form, including the Participant Information Sheet and the Participant Consent Form, to ensure that the student’s research meets federal regulations, based on the Office for Human Research Protection (OHRP) laws regarding human research/subjects.

The Chair of Research gives final approval for a nominated professor to become the Dissertation Advisor, and s/he assists students to find an advisor when necessary. At the end of each term, the Chair of Research reviews the progress report submitted by the dissertation student and advisor. S/he makes any recommendations based on these reports and helps to mediate or resolve any conflicts or issues between the advisor and the student. The Chair of Research also serves as Chair of the Oral Defense Committee, approves the External Examiner, and submits the oral defense report. (If the Chair is also the student’s advisor, the Chair will nominate a different faculty member to chair the defense).

The External Examiner may be a faculty member of Anaheim University or another institution with a terminal degree and knowledge of the student’s research topic of type of study. This person can be recommended by the student, the student’s advisor, or the Chair of Research, but s/he must be approved by the Chair of Research. Once the written dissertation has been submitted, the External Examiner reviews it, completes a report about it, and sends these remarks to the advisor(s) and the Chair of Research prior to the oral defense. The External Examiner also serves on the Oral Defense Committee.

All team members from outside Anaheim University must hold a doctorate degree, have faculty status in an accredited university, and have knowledge that is related directly to the dissertation topic. Outside faculty must also submit a CV to the Chair of Research, who decides whether the person is qualified to serve on the Oral Defense Committee. The student may nominate the Advisor, but AU reserves the right to make the final decision regarding the Advisor.

Ethics Policy

All students and staff intending to undertake research involving human participants must obtain signed permission from the Chair of the Ethics Committee before the research commences. The purpose of this is to ensure that any research conducted in the name of Anaheim University adheres to the standards of ethical research.

Ethical research is research:

- Where the informed voluntary consent of the participants has been obtained, including the consent of a parent/guardian if the participant is a minor.
- Where the participants are made fully aware of the purpose of the research and what will be asked of them.
- Where the participants are informed of any remuneration they will receive before the research commences.
- Where the researcher ensures the anonymity of the participants in any report or publication emanating from the research.
- Where the participants are recruited without coercion or the appearance thereof.
- Where participants are informed as to any risks or benefits the research may have for them.
- Where the participants are informed that they can withdraw from the research at any time they wish without adverse effect to them.
- Where the participants are informed that any data collected as part of the research will be destroyed six years after award of the degree.
- Where participants are informed that any data collected as part of the research will be held in a secure place (e.g., locked cabinets, password protected computer) until they are destroyed.
- Where the faculty supervisor agrees to the procedures the student uses to protect the participants.
- Where the participants are given the contact details of the primary researcher and the Chair of the Ethics Committee so that they can contact them whenever they wish.
The Ethics Application Form, Participant Information Form and Participant Consent Form must be submitted and approved before the student may proceed with his or her research.

Responsibilities of the Dissertation Candidate

The candidate is expected to engage in active preparation of the Dissertation process from the onset of the doctoral program. Candidates are responsible for choosing a topic, submitting proofread drafts of materials, preparing adequately for meetings, thoroughly reviewing all Dissertation policies and procedures, and communicating on a regular basis via email, phone, or other means.

The candidate is expected to maintain a respectful and professional attitude at all times. Candidates are expected to maintain contact with their dissertation team throughout the dissertation process to ensure that the research and writing adhere to the agreed-upon plan. As the project is the candidate’s responsibility, s/he must frequently keep the Advisor and Chair of Research informed of progress. The candidate should also contact their Advisor and Chair of Research in the event of any significant changes in his/her personal or professional life which may interfere with program completion. In addition, candidates are expected to maintain regular contact with Student Services via email or phone.

Communicating with the Team

The Dissertation Advisor will determine when the dissertation is ready for review by the Oral Defense Committee. The candidate may not consult the full committee for feedback without prior approval of the Chair of Research. Team participation from a distance may be facilitated through video conference, phone conference, or other electronic media as approved.

Presenting Drafts to Team Members

It is common practice to share Dissertation drafts with the Advisor or Chair of Research via email. The document should be saved in Microsoft Word format and clearly labeled with the researcher’s name and stage in the process (example: Jane Smith Prospectus Chapter 2). The document should include consecutively numbered pages and should adhere to program formatting and style guidelines. All drafts of defense documents should be shared with the Oral Defense Committee at least 14 days prior to any defense date(s).

For the Student: A Step-by-Step Guide for Planning and Writing the Dissertation

One semester prior to EDU 732, identify a topic you are interested in and approach potential advisors informally by asking if they might consider working with you. The Chair of Research has a general "Advisors Register" to help you find a suitable advisor, if need be. Don't forget that advisors can either be from within or outside Anaheim University.

NOTE: You will increase your chances of success if you clearly explain the topic you want to examine and your preliminary ideas of what you want to investigate and how. Please remember that you have only three terms in which to complete your dissertation, so be mindful of the scope of your topic!

The EDU 732: This "Dissertation Proposal Writing" course assists you in preparing and critiquing a research proposal.

- Discuss the feasibility and scope of your project with the professor teaching the course.
- Upon successful completion of your dissertation proposal, send it to your potential advisor.
- If s/he agrees, complete all advisory paperwork (Dissertation Advisor Nomination Form) and submit to Student Services.
● Establish guidelines and expectations pertaining to the frequency of formal meetings between you and your advisor; the extent and style of the advisor’s input in your day-to-day activities; and turnaround time for feedback on written work.

● Establish a clear timeline for the completion of this dissertation and the submission of each piece to your advisor for feedback.

● Students need to earn a minimum grade of “B” in order to continue with the dissertation process.

EDU 733 (first term)

● Prepare and submit applications for ethics approval if needed (see Ethics Review Procedure). See documents here: Ethics Application and Participant Consent Forms.

● The Chair of the Research will sit in on the first formal meeting between the student and the advisor in order to facilitate communication and verify that all expectations are clear.

● Submit your progress report to Student Services. You will need to submit the Candidate's Report and Advisors will submit the Advisor’s Report. Students will not receive credit for the course until this survey is received.

EDU 733 (second term)

● Ask your advisor to recommend a name for your External Examiner and submit that name to the Chair of Research. The Chair of Research and your advisor will serve as the other two members on your Oral Defense Committee.

● Submit your progress report to Student Services. You will need to submit the Candidate's Report and Advisors will submit the Advisor’s Report. Students will not receive credit for the course until this survey is received.

EDU 733 (third term)

● When your advisor recommends you for the final stage of the dissertation, you will submit your dissertation to the Chair of Research.

● Submit your progress report to Student Services. You will need to submit the Candidate's Report and Advisors will submit the Advisor’s Report. Students will not receive credit for the course until this survey is received.

EDU 733 (additional terms)

● Should your dissertation require additional terms beyond the three allotted, you may continue to enroll in EDU 733 until your dissertation is complete. Each additional term will require tuition and records fees, as well as documentation and progress reports.

● If a student chooses to take terms off during the dissertation phase, they will not have access to advisor resources until they resume taking EDU 733 courses.

Once the written dissertation has been finalized and approved by the Dissertation Advisor, you will need to submit it to Student Services. Upon submission of the written dissertation, Anaheim University will schedule the Oral Defense.
APA Format
The required format for the written dissertation is APA. It is recommended that students engage an editor to review the dissertation for errors in grammar, spelling, and formatting before submitting the final draft of the dissertation to the dissertation team. In order to help with the formatting, an APA template is available in the course resources. Please also review the APA checklist to verify that all elements of APA formatting are followed correctly.

Oral Defense
● AU tech support will schedule an oral defense date that is convenient to you, the Chair of Research (who will chair the oral defense), your advisor(s), and your External Examiner.
● The External Examiner will complete the first half of the External Examiner’s report about the written dissertation, and s/he will send these remarks to the advisor(s) and the Chair of Research prior to the oral defense.
● The Defense will be conducted in an online classroom. It will normally last between 1 and 2 hours. You will open with a brief presentation of the dissertation, followed by an interactive discussion where you will be expected to address any points or questions raised by the three examiners.
● The committee will evaluate both the dissertation and your performance in the oral examination to determine whether or not you pass.
● The External Examiner will complete the second half of the External Examiner’s report about the oral defense, and s/he will send the report to your advisor(s) and the Chair of Research. They will both have the opportunity to comment on or add to this report. The report will also be sent to Anaheim University.
● The External Examiner, advisor(s), and Chair of Research will complete the Oral Examination Form together. This report will likewise be sent to Anaheim University.
● Once it is finalized, the Oral Examination Form will be forwarded to the candidate.
● As part of the Oral Examination Form, the committee may request revisions to be made to the dissertation. You will make these changes or follow the recommendations, including whatever timeline is established.
● Unless otherwise directed, you will send the corrected version (with a list of page numbers/corrections) to your advisor(s).
● When the advisor(s) is satisfied that the final version has addressed all issues, the advisor(s) will send the final version to the Chair of Research and Anaheim University.
● All members of the Defense committee must sign off on the final version of the dissertation, including all requested revisions.
● Congratulations -- the process is complete!
● You may use the title of “Dr.” upon the successful submission of the written dissertation with all revisions and the successful completion of the Oral Defense.

ONLINE LEARNING RESOURCES

AU ONLINE CLASSROOMS
Anaheim University Ed.D. in TESOL students meet in real-time interactive online classes with their professor and fellow students for ninety minutes every week during each of the courses. Transcripts of all online classes are recorded and are made available as soon as the class has been completed. This allows the students to stay focused on the live discussion during the class, and the opportunity to review the class discussion afterwards. For the schedule of the 90-minute online class times please see the University website.

AU ONLINE DISCUSSION FORUM
The Online Discussion Forum is an electronic bulletin board and e-mail list facilitating lively communication and interaction among students and their professor. When a student posts a message to the Forum, the message is automatically redistributed to the professor and all other students in the course, allowing students to discuss the week’s readings in their free time. A weekly Student Host directs students to perform certain tasks as outlined in the online Course Guide. The Online Discussion Forum plays an integral part in AU’s online programs by facilitating the out-of-class interaction between students necessary for an effective exchange of ideas. The AU Online Discussion Forum ensures that learning and interaction does not end when the real-time class does.

ONLINE BOOKSTORE
The Online Bookstore is the one-stop source for textbook and course material needs. Designed for students to buy textbooks based on their course schedule, track their textbook orders, and sell their textbooks back from a previous semester, the Online Bookstore offers money-saving used books, multiple shipping options, and access to hundreds of academic items related to your studies. In an effort to provide additional savings, textbooks or course materials may be available for purchase in an electronic format. Purchases will be subject to the refund policy of the bookstore.

LIBRARY
Anaheim University requires all of its students to make extensive use of library facilities and resources in the course of their program. The University’s online resources provide a major boost in assisting and supporting a student’s academic work. The login ID and password provided by the University to the student upon enrollment will provide the student access to the online resources.

Anaheim University makes certain provisions in order to provide access to library resources and library services for all students enrolled directly through Anaheim University. However, students enrolled in Anaheim University’s online graduate degree programs are required to have an additional reserve fund to be used for the purchase of journals and research - materials that will aid them in their studies by providing information specific to their unique areas of interest and research - and to provide access to software and other resources that may help them in the completion of their studies. The research reserve fund is $1,500 for master degree students and $2,000 for doctoral students to be used over the duration of their program. Note: Students are not required to spend the entire research fund - only that amount necessary in order to carry out their research.
AU ALUMNI ASSOCIATION

Upon completion of their chosen programs of study, AU graduates have the privilege of becoming part of the university’s Alumni Association. The AU Alumni Association is a highly regarded online network established to ensure that an AU graduate’s learning never ends. LUKE PLONSKY, PH.D.
GRADUATE TESOL DIRECTOR, GRADUATE SCHOOL OF EDUCATION

MESSAGE FROM ROD ELLIS, PH.D.
VICE-PRESIDENT OF ACADEMIC AFFAIRS
DOCTOR OF EDUCATION IN TESOL PROGRAM DESIGNER
SENIOR PROFESSOR, GRADUATE SCHOOL OF EDUCATION

“The Ed.D. is the latest addition to the menu of programs in TESOL offered by Anaheim University. The courses have been developed by some of the leading experts in the field – Gary Barkhuizen, Rod Ellis, Denise Murray, David Nunan, and Brian Tomlinson, among others. The program aims to introduce you to current thinking in TESOL and the various disciplines that inform it. It will provide you with the knowledge and technical expertise to enable you to carry out research relevant to the teaching and learning of English as a second or additional language. The program consists of the following components:

• Studies in Applied Linguistics
• Aspects of Language Teaching
• Professional Development
• Researching Language Teaching
• Comprehensive Examination
• Dissertation

You will study using Anaheim University’s online course materials. There will be a weekly online class using the university’s state-of-art web-based classroom. You will become a member of a community of scholars exchanging views and ideas in the Discussion Forum. You will be asked to complete assignments that challenge you to use the knowledge and skills you have acquired to address cutting-edge issues in language pedagogy. You will be given guidance in developing a proposal for a dissertation and supported through the research you will need to undertake for it.

Studying for an Ed.D. with Anaheim University will be challenging. You will need commitment and hard work. But you will find it one of the most rewarding experiences of your life. I look forward to working with you.”
Welcome to Anaheim University’s Ed.D. in TESOL program. Despite the fact that you are studying in very different contexts and situations in many different parts of the world, we aim to give you the same quality of care, concern and support as we would if you were studying in conventional face-to-face mode. I have been involved in directing post-graduate and Certificate programs in applied linguistics and language education in many different parts of the world for over thirty years. However, I have never been involved in better quality programs than these. In addition to their innovative means of delivery, the programs are distinctive in a number of important respects. In the first place, the program offers principled links between theory, research and practice. Procedurally, the material reflects the experiential, task-based philosophy being advocated for the teaching of foreign languages. The medium and the message are therefore in harmony. I look forward to traveling with you on this exciting educational voyage, and trust that you find the programs as rewarding to complete as I found them to create.

MESSAGE FROM DENISE MURRAY, PH.D. TESOL PROFESSOR

“I am excited to be part of the team of faculty teaching this program because I value distance education, having experienced it firsthand myself. I completed much of my B.A. by distance—although in those days it was totally paper-based. I have been involved in English language education around the globe for more than thirty years, having developed an abiding love of language and its study from a very young age. While languages give us the opportunity to interact with people from different cultures, technology amplifies that opportunity.”

MESSAGE FROM MARYANN CHRISTISON, PH.D. PROFESSOR

“Welcome to Anaheim University. I am so pleased to be a part of the team of TESOL faculty members and so excited to work with you in some of your TESOL classes. Working in an online environment is exciting for me as a teacher because I get to work with you—students and teachers from all over the TESOL world, to learn about the challenges you face in English language teaching, and to work with you in finding solutions. Through this process I advance my own understanding of the world of English language teaching. There is always so much to learn about English language teaching no matter how many years one spends in the classroom. We are involved in a vibrant and expanding profession—expanding in terms of the number of teachers entering the profession and the amount of research about second language acquisition and second language pedagogy that we have available to us. I have been involved in the TESOL profession since 1976 and have worked as a language teacher and a teacher educator in many different contexts. I hope that I can draw on these experiences in my interactions with you to create an online environment that will be not only useful, but also exciting. I want you to feel that you have a community to which you belong. My research interests fall into three general categories—second language teacher development, teacher leadership, and language and the brain”

- Past President of TESOL (1997-1998) & Trustee for The International Research Foundation
- Teacher Educator for over 20 years working with teachers from over 30 countries
- Author of 18 textbooks and 80+ refereed journal articles
- Research interests in leadership, second language teacher development, and language and the brain

MESSAGE FROM ANDY CURTIS, PH.D. PROFESSOR

“At the risk of too many welcomes, I would like to add my own to those of my distinguished colleagues. Although I have more than 20 years of experience in the field of TESOL, I am a new-comer to Anaheim University’s TESOL professorial team, and I am very much looking forward to working with the students, the other professors, and the AU administrative support team, and to teaching and learning online and face-to-face. Having recently completed many years in language program administration, starting in Canada and eventually in China, I have become especially interested in the challenges of leadership and management in language education.”
MESSAGE FROM KEN BEATTY, PH.D. PROFESSOR

“Consider this: a medical doctor from just 100 years ago would be both completely lost and completely useless in a modern operating room. However, a teacher from 1,000 years ago could probably get by in most modern classrooms. Anaheim University is addressing this by offering innovative programs in TESOL that teach in the ways that students will be taught in the future. Anaheim University offers a clever mix of online resources, lectures, and discussions as well as intensive residential sessions, all with the participation of some of the brightest minds in the field. This combination makes for a great learning experience. As Professor David Nunan’s first PhD student in Hong Kong, I have watched from afar as Anaheim University has grown and prospered. My research area of computer-assisted language learning (CALL) helps me understand the programs’ attractions and, after more than a decade of teaching and writing in Asia, Canada, and the Middle East, I’m proud to join Anaheim University’s growing faculty. I particularly look forward to working with students interested in researching and writing their dissertations in CALL.”

MESSAGE FROM MARTHA CLASK S CUMMINGS, PH.D. PROFESSOR

“Welcome to this online adventure in teaching and learning. I, too, have been involved in English language teaching and teacher training for over 30 years and have been teaching online since 1999. What I have learned is that there is always more to learn and that online classrooms tend to be places where some of the most wholehearted learning takes place. My research interests include narrative inquiry in Second Language Acquisition, classroom management, and observation. I look forward to our conversations.”
MESSAGE FROM BRIAN TOMLINSON, PH. D. PROFESSOR

“I’m delighted to be joining the team of TESOL faculty members here at Anaheim and to be able to share my experience and enthusiasm as both a TESOL practitioner and an applied linguistics academic. I started my career, believe it or not, as a teacher trainer in Nigeria and only after that became a classroom teacher in Liverpool and then in Zambia. I moved on to being a curriculum developer in Zambia and then became a teacher trainer again. I continued as a teacher trainer in the UK and then in Vanuatu before becoming Director of Studies at a college in the UK. Since then I’ve been a university academic in Japan, the UK, Singapore and Oman but I’ve frequently returned to the language classroom as a teacher (for example as an EAP teacher in Oman). Throughout my career I’ve been interested in materials development and I’ve published coursebooks in China, Ethiopia, Japan, Nigeria, Singapore and Zambia, In the last fifteen years though I’ve specialized in publishing books, chapters and articles on materials development and I’ve focused on trying to bring researchers and practitioners together to ensure that the materials that teachers use in the classroom are principled and effective. To support this aim I formed the Materials Development Association (MATSDA) in 1993 and as Chair and now President I’ve been organizing conferences and workshops throughout the world to bring together researchers, writers, teachers and publishers.”

NOTICE CONCERNING TRANSFERABILITY OF CREDITS AND CREDENTIALS EARNED AT OUR INSTITUTION

The transferability of credits you earn at Anaheim University is at the complete discretion of an institution to which you may seek to transfer. Acceptance of the Doctor of Education degree you earn in the Anaheim University Graduate School of Education is also at the complete discretion of the institution to which you may seek to transfer. If the credits or degree that you earn at this institution are not accepted at the institution to which you seek to transfer, you may be required to repeat some or all of your coursework at that institution. For this reason, you should make certain that your attendance at this institution will meet your educational goals.

This may include contacting an institution to which you may seek to transfer after attending Anaheim University to determine if your credits or degree will transfer.

ACCEPTANCE OF CREDITS EARNED AT OTHER INSTITUTIONS

Anaheim University will accept up to two (or three, for a DBA) graduate semester classes or the equivalent in units (6 units for an MBA or ME, 8 units for MA TESOL, MFA or Ed.D, 9 units for a DBA) awarded by another institution toward a Masters or Doctoral degree at Anaheim University. The entering student will be required to clearly demonstrate the equivalency of a transfer course through relevant documents (syllabus, catalog, course outline) and justify its acceptance through petition. No course will be considered for transfer with a grade lower than a “B” or its equivalent. Petitions are directed to the specific Dean or Director for the affected program. There is a fee of $75 per graduate course, and the overall program cost will be adjusted to reflect credit for the approved class(es). All petitions for transfer credit must be submitted as part of the student’s initial application to the University. Credits awarded as part of another degree will not be accepted for transfer. Anaheim University has not entered into an articulation or transfer agreement with any other college or university.

EXPERIENTIAL CREDIT

Anaheim University will not extend credit for prior experiential learning to any student.

ATTENDANCE

Anaheim University students participate in a weekly discussion forum in which they must contribute regular substantive posts to the discussion questions. In addition, all degree students must participate in the scheduled Real-Time Online Classes for each course. Business courses include two online classes within the six-week term; students are expected to attend both sessions and must make arrangements with the professor for make-up work if they are unable to attend a session. TESOL and MFA degree courses include eight online classes within the nine-week term; students are expected to attend at least six of the sessions. Students are expected to utilize their webcams during their live classes regularly throughout their program. In addition to providing a more interactive learning environment, use of webcams will also allow Anaheim University to complete student identity verification in line with accreditation requirements. Periodically during the program, Anaheim University will request a student to turn on his/her webcam for this purpose. In addition to the assigned course assessments, students are graded on participation in the discussion forum and online classes. A student is considered to have dropped a course if s/he fails to attend classes for a three-week period or fails to submit three consecutive lessons.
SKIPPED TERMS

Students are expected to enroll in a course every time a course that is needed for their program completion is offered. Skipping a term can delay graduation, as the student must wait for the course to be offered again.

- A student who wishes to skip one term must complete the "Registration for Skipping a Term" form, which can be downloaded from the University website.
- A student who wishes to take two consecutive terms off must complete the "Registration for Skipping a Term" form, and they must also complete a "Dean/ Program Director Skipped Term Petition" and receive signed permission from the Dean or Program Director. Two non-consecutive terms off requires only a second "Registration for Skipping a Term" form.
- A request for a third (non-consecutive) skipped term requires the student to complete a third "Registration for Skipping a Term" form; complete a "Dean/ Program Director Skipped Term Petition" and receive signed permission from the Dean or Program Director; and schedule a meeting with the Admissions Director to discuss any issues or areas of concern.
- A request for a fourth skipped term requires the student to receive permission from the Vice President of Academic Affairs.

The above policy does not apply to students who are on active military duty or who are an approved Medical Leave of Absence.

MEDICAL LEAVE OF ABSENCE

Students may also petition for a medical leave of absence during their program, which is handled differently than a voluntary leave of absence. The maximum period for a medical leave of absence is ninety (90) days per leave. Students may apply for a maximum of four (4) leaves of absence for medical reasons throughout their degree program. Each leave of absence must be ninety (90) days or less and requires a separate petition which must be approved by the University’s administration. Only students in good academic and financial standing will be considered for approval of medical leave. The Petition for Special Medical Leave of Absence Form can be downloaded from the University website and requires a doctor’s signature.

FINAL GRADES

Final Grades are submitted two weeks after the final day of the course. Students are notified of their final grades by email once the grades have been submitted. Students who have been approved for an extension will be notified of their final grades once all terms of the extension have been met.

VISA STATUS

Anaheim University does not provide visa services but can provide a letter verifying a student’s active status upon request. For Ed.D. in TESOL students attending the short residential sessions, it is the student’s responsibility to ensure that they have taken care of proper visa procedures, if required. Anaheim University can provide a letter of invitation to present to authorities should a student need it to travel outside of his or her country for the residential.

STUDENT TUITION RECOVERY FUND

It is a state requirement that a student who pays his or her tuition is required to pay a state-imposed assessment for the Student Tuition Recovery Fund (STRF).

The State of California established the Student Tuition Recovery Fund (STRF) to relieve or mitigate economic loss suffered by a student in an educational program at a qualifying institution, who is or was a California resident while enrolled, or was enrolled in a residency program, if the student enrolled in the institution, prepaid tuition, and suffered an economic loss. Unless relieved of the obligation to do so, you must pay the state-imposed assessment for the STRF, or it must be paid on your behalf, if you are a student in an educational program, who is a California resident, or are enrolled in a residency program, and prepay all or part of your tuition.

You are not eligible for protection from the STRF and you are not required to pay the STRF assessment, if you are not a California resident, or are not enrolled in a residency program.

It is important that you keep copies of your enrollment agreement, financial aid documents, receipts, or any other information that documents the amount paid to the school. Questions regarding the STRF may be directed to the Bureau for Private Postsecondary Education, 2535 Capitol Oaks Drive, Suite 400, Sacramento, CA 95833, (916) 431-6959 or (888) 370-7589. To be eligible for STRF, you must be a California resident or enrolled in a residency program, prepaid tuition, paid or deemed to have paid the STRF assessment, and suffered an economic loss as a result of any of the following:

1. The institution, a location of the institution, or an educational program offered by the institution was closed or discontinued, and you did not choose to participate in a teach-out plan approved by the Bureau or did not complete a chosen teach-out plan approved by the Bureau.
2. You were enrolled at an institution or a location of the institution within the 120 day period before the closure of the institution or location of the institution, or were enrolled in an educational program within the 120 day period before the program was discontinued.

3. You were enrolled at an institution or a location of the institution more than 120 days before the closure of the institution or location of the institution, in an educational program offered by the institution as to which the Bureau determined there was a significant decline in the quality or value of the program more than 120 days before closure.

4. The institution has been ordered to pay a refund by the Bureau but has failed to do so.

5. The institution has failed to pay or reimburse loan proceeds under a federal student loan program as required by law, or has failed to pay or reimburse proceeds received by the institution in excess of tuition and other costs.

6. You have been awarded restitution, a refund, or other monetary award by an arbitrator or court, based on a violation of this chapter by an institution or representative of an institution, but have been unable to collect the award from the institution.

7. You sought legal counsel that resulted in the cancellation of one or more of your student loans and have an invoice for services rendered and evidence of the cancellation of the student loan or loans. To qualify for STRF reimbursement, the application must be received within four (4) years from the date of the action or event that made the student eligible for recovery from STRF. A student whose loan is revived by a loan holder or debt collector after a period of noncollection may, at any time, file a written application for recovery from STRF for the debt that would have otherwise been eligible for recovery. If it has been more than four (4) years since the action or event that made the student eligible, the student must have filed a written application for recovery within the original four (4) year period, unless the period has been extended by another act of law. However, no claim can be paid to any student without a social security number or a taxpayer identification number.

STUDENT CANCELLATION, WITHDRAWAL, AND REFUND RIGHTS

The student has the right to cancel an enrollment agreement in any manner through the first day of the course, or the seventh day after signing the enrollment agreement, whichever is later (the “Cancellation Period”), and obtain a full refund of all monies paid. Students canceling after the seven-day Cancellation Period will receive a refund of all amounts paid, less the non-refundable registration fee of $100 and the non-refundable application fee of $75 (for graduate programs) or $50 (for undergraduate programs).

The written notice of cancellation may be given by e-mail, fax, or postal service (in which case, the effective date begins when the letter is deposited in the mail properly addressed with postage prepaid). The “Official Notice of Withdrawal” form can be downloaded from the University website.

For the purposes of determining the student’s obligation for the time attended, the student will be considered to have withdrawn from the program when any of the following occurs, unless the Dean or Program Director determines a different course of action:

- The student notifies the school of the withdrawal.
- The school terminates the student’s enrollment.
- The student fails to attend classes for a three-week period. In this case, the date of withdrawal will be the last date of attendance.
• The student fails to submit three consecutive lessons or fails to submit a completed lesson required for home study or correspondence within 60 days of its due date.
• The student has not responded to communication in any form from the University for four months.
• Students who have been withdrawn from their program for any of the above reasons may be required to submit a new application (and all applicable fees) if they wish to continue. Tuition for all courses is refunded based on the number of weeks completed.

If a student obtains a loan to pay for an educational program, the student will have to repay the full amount of the loan plus interest, less the amount of any refund, and if the student receives federal student financial aid funds, the student is entitled to a refund of the moneys not paid from the federal financial aid funds. If the student paid for his/her entire program at the time of enrollment and received the 10% tuition discount for payment in full, the regular course tuition will be used in the calculation of the refund since the discount will no longer apply. All monies due the student will be refunded within 30 days of the notice of cancellation.

If the student has been approved for a monthly payment plan, Anaheim University will calculate the total amount of tuition and fees owed to the University based on the number of courses taken, and compare this amount with the total amount the student has paid up to the date of their withdrawal. Any amount paid over the total amount of tuition and fees will be refunded to the student. If there is a balance due, the student will be responsible for the remaining amount.
For the Residential portion of the Ed.D. in TESOL program, students are entitled to a refund of the 28-hour Residential session as follows:
